Streets Taking on Gay Air

The central area of Johannesburg is rapidly taking on a festive air as flags and bunting herald the approach of the Royal visit. Work is going on on the decoration of the City Hall and the general scheme is taking shape against a background of green and gold drapings and covered pillars. The photograph, taken to-day, shows the west side of the City Hall, where the central canopy has still to be altered, a saluting base built, the flower boxes lining the rails added and other alterations and additions made.
