Johannesburg freezes its 'boks off!

BBRRRR! ... Not even an ice cold mid-winter's day could keep this beautiful little rainbow from delighting workers and shoppers around Oppenheimer Park in Johannesburg yesterday. And it was not only the bronze springboks who were numbed by the cold ... Gautengers suffered a collective shiver as temperatures plummeted in the grip of a cold front. It was not all bad news though. Police reported a significant drop in crimes committed overnight on Tuesday. It seemed as if criminals were not brave enough to face the cold. Viva winter.
