

Monument to the Jews

This striking more-than-life-size statue by the Johannesburg Jewish sculptor Herman Wald stands before the main entrance of the Witwatersrand Jewish Aged Home—the biggest home for aged Jews in Southern Africa. It was unveiled last week by the Chief Rabbi, Prof. L. I. Rabinowitz. The tearing of the garment is a sign of mourning and the statue is dedicated "to the undying memory of Europe's martyred Jews, 1939-1945."
