To be unveiled in the Jewish Cemetery at Westpark, Johannesburg, this monument, designed by Hermann Wald and cast in the foundry of Denver Metal Works (Pty.) Ltd., recalls the death of six million Jews under the Hitler regime. The firm's own foundrymen, Messrs. J. I. Pinker and J. F. Daschner, worked on these unusual castings in collaboration with Mr. Ben Haigh, Mr. John Steele and Mr. Ronny Laycock. The CO₂ Process was used and a standard flash-off mould dressing developed in a Benoni foundry.
