

✓
16/1/88

Picture: LES BUSH

Icicles hanging from the leaping impala in Johannesburg's Oppenheimer Square yesterday morning reflected the misery of passers-by as they scurried for their warm offices to escape the Reef's cold snap. The impala took a little longer to thaw — at lunchtime the ice on their backs was still thick.